The Spring/Summer Newsletter was to be an introduction to BCCCRC’s new look and celebration of the first year at The Family Tree. Instead the world has turned upside down and each day brings significant changes to our daily lives as we deal with the ramifications of the coronavirus meeting challenges that we had never imagined.

One of the significant challenges that BCCCRC faces is that face to face training classes must be cancelled through June 30, 2020. In a memo from Maryland State Department of Education the following was sent to all organizations that provide child care training in Maryland:

In an effort to help mitigate the spread of the COVID-19 (coronavirus), the Office of Child Care will adhere to the direction of the Maryland State Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Karen Salmon and Governor Larry Hogan. We have instructed trainers to modify how they conduct training in order to avoid contact through June 30, 2020. Trainers should refrain from conducting face-to-face training immediately with Child Care Providers. Any face to face training conducted between now and June 30th will not be accepted to meet Licensing training requirements or the Maryland Child Care Credential program.

In order to comply with this directive, but still provide professional development opportunities, BCCCRC is working with all the members of the Maryland Child Care Resource Network (MCCRN) to develop on-line trainings that will be presented in a live format through Zoom. For the time being, these training classes will take the place of our face to face trainings and will be offered on evenings and Saturdays just as normal. As trainings become available, announcements will be made through the BCCCRC Facebook page, our web page, and through e-mail. Also, see the article on page 2 regarding the on-line training opportunities that are available through the MCCRN.

These are extraordinary times that we are living through and we must support one another. Please know that the BCCRC staff, though currently working remotely, is available Monday through Friday, 8:30am to 4:30pm by telephone or email. Call on us for assistance, or just more moral support. We will get through this crisis together and come out stronger on the other side.

Following is the most up to date information as the newsletter went to press. Please consult the web sites listed in the Bulletin to keep current on all information.
Be Prepared

Information on the coronavirus is coming at us from every direction. Please read the latest from the scientists at The Center of Disease Control and continue to practice good hygiene. The best way to stop the spread of any virus is by washing hands, twenty seconds, with soap, under running water, frequently!

Current understanding about how the virus that causes coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) spreads is largely based on what is known about similar coronaviruses. COVID-19 is a new disease and there is more to learn about how it spreads, the severity of illness it causes, and to what extent it may spread in the United States.

Person-to-person spread
The virus is thought to spread mainly from person-to-person.
• Between people who are in close contact with one another (within about 6 feet).
• Through respiratory droplets produced when an infected person coughs or sneezes. These droplets can land in the mouths or noses of people who are nearby or possibly be inhaled into the lungs.

Spread from contact with infected surfaces or objects
It may be possible that a person can get COVID-19 by touching a surface or object that has the virus on it and then touching their own mouth, nose, or possibly their eyes, but this is not thought to be the main way the virus spreads.

Can someone spread the virus without being sick?
• People are thought to be most contagious when they are most symptomatic (the sickest).
• Some spread might be possible before people show symptoms; there have been reports of this occurring with this new coronavirus, but this is not thought to be the main way the virus spreads.

How easily does the virus spread?
The virus that causes COVID-19 seems to be spreading easily and sustainably in the community (“community spread”) in some affected geographic areas. Community spread means people have been infected with the virus in an area, including some who are not sure how or where they became infected.

There is currently no vaccine to prevent coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19). The best way to prevent illness is to avoid being exposed to this virus. However, as a reminder, CDC always recommends everyday preventive actions to help prevent the spread of respiratory diseases, including:
• Avoid close contact with people who are sick.
• Avoid touching your eyes, nose, and mouth.
• Stay home when you are sick.

• Cover your cough or sneeze with a tissue, then throw the tissue in the trash.
• Clean and disinfect frequently touched objects and surfaces using a regular household cleaning spray or wipe.
• Follow CDC’s recommendations for using a facemask.
• CDC does not recommend that people who are well wear a facemask to protect themselves from respiratory diseases, including COVID-19.
• Facemasks should be used by people who show symptoms of COVID-19 to help prevent the spread of the disease to others. The use of facemasks is also crucial for health workers and people who are taking care of someone in close settings (at home or in a health care facility).
• Wash your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds, especially after going to the bathroom; before eating; and after blowing your nose, coughing, or sneezing.
• If soap and water are not readily available, use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer with at least 60% alcohol. Always wash hands with soap and water if hands are visibly dirty.

For information about handwashing, see CDC’s Handwashing website. For information specific to healthcare, see CDC’s Hand Hygiene in Healthcare Settings. These are everyday habits that can help prevent the spread of several viruses.

How ironic that May is Children’s Mental Health Matters here in Maryland. The current global health crisis affects children just as significantly as it affects adults. In times of confusion and uncertainty, young children become anxious and unable to fully grasp the new realities of everyday life and their behaviors, sleeping patterns, and communication styles may drastically change. In other words, children’s mental health can be greatly impacted. BCCRC is here to provide assistance.

Baltimore City Child Care Resource Center Early Intervention Project (EIP) continues to provide free early mental health consultation designed to help children remain in stable, quality early childhood programs and at the same time receive additional services needed to meet their mental health needs. The EIP, a part of Maryland’s Early Childhood Mental Health Consultation Project, also provides on-site support service for early childhood programs that helps programs integrate best practices for the social emotional development of children into their routines and practices. For further information on accessing the EIP support services please contact Suzanne Funk, sfunk@familytreemd.org or Tova Hoicowitz, thoicowitz@familytreemd.org.

The Children’s Mental Health Matters Campaign is a collaboration of the Mental Health Association of Maryland and the Maryland Coalition of Families with support from the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene – Behavioral Health Administration with the goal of raising awareness of the importance of children’s mental health and to connect families and community members with resources. Go to the following web sites for additional information: www.mhamd.org and www.mdcoalition.org.

Mental health refers to a person’s overall emotional, behavioral and psychological well-being. It impacts how a child thinks, feels and acts. Sound social emotional health is necessary for school success. Statistics show that 1 in 5 children experience a diagnosable mental health disorder each year yet only 20% are identified and receive treatment. The Campaign hopes that bringing awareness to this issue will help more Maryland families connect to the services and supports that they need including BCCRC’s Early Intervention Project.
